THE PEMBROKE-KING'S PROGRAMME, UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

The summer Pembroke-King's Programme, based at Pembroke and King's Colleges, offers an exceptional opportunity to experience life as an undergraduate in one of the oldest and most distinguished university cities in the world. Founded in 1209, the University of Cambridge is comprised of thirty residential, self-governing colleges. Pembroke College's origins and buildings go back to 1347, while King's College bears the signature of several English kings. Completed by Henry VIII, the college's extraordinary Gothic chapel is one of Britain's most visited tourist attractions.
